

Your Environmental Health Matters

You deserve a clean and healthy environment, no matter where you live. Sometimes factories and other industrial businesses can be noisy, smelly, or release harmful chemicals that pollute the air, land, and water. High levels of pollution can affect the health and wellbeing of people living nearby.

You Can Report Environmental Problems

If you are experiencing bad smells, loud noises, runoff, vibrations, spills and releases, and any related health symptoms or concerns, report them to LA County Public Health as soon as possible. Your reports help us improve the quality of life of people near industrial pollution.

Be sure to include details in your report, like time of day and exact location, which can help an investigation. Your report can be anonymous. You can also report odors to the local air agency at 800-CUT-SMOG.
